Feb Shoot Notes

Well, February is the shortest month of the year. Good thing. In a month when there's not much going on outdoors it's really great to have two ITBA shoots to go to. The first shoot had a great turnout with over 60 shooters. Many old friends and a few new ones were there. There was 3" of snow on the ground and it was 58 degrees. That's Southern Indiana for you. Ron Denton proved what Myth Busters couldn't by getting a perfect Robin Hood. The reason it was perfect was because he did it to Redden's arrow. The last shoot was cold in the morning with precipitation forecasted. All those who shot early managed to get in before the weather hit. It even warmed up a little. Tim, John, Billy and others decided to go back out for some fun competition. They asked me if I wanted to go. I had just been outside and to the N.W. a nasty looking black cloud bank was rolling in. Yep, saw it right off. I told John no thanks; you all go ahead and have fun. About 20 minutes later the skies opened up, and about 30 minutes after that, a bunch of drowned rats came in off the range. By that time the cold rain had turned to snow. The good news is February is about over. (Thanks to Dennis)
