Breaking News - ITBA Picnic will be on the September 19th Shoot July Shoot Notes

The weather for the July shoot was a gift. I told you Mother Nature smiles on trad shooters. I believe I even heard a couple of our older members (I won't mention names) whose recollections go back before the National Weather Service was formed, said it was the nicest July day they could remember. It seems like almost everyone was there. We figured 76 shooters. The grounds and the course were in good shape. I even noticed a few bigger targets. I started out shooting great. I was on a pace to break 300, even 350. Then I took my second shot of the day and everything fell apart. Oh well, still some time to practice before season. If this weather keeps up like it has been, I wouldn't be surprised to see a woolly mammoth come walking by my stand this fall.
