April 19th Blanket Shoot

The day broke cloudy and cool; threatening of rain, but all in all a good day to hunt foam.

The turn-out was pretty good, although it seemed down a little. We believe this was due to turkey season in Kentucky, and youth turkey in Indiana. I know it couldn't be from the chance of a little rain and thunder.

There were some very nice prizes on the blanket and even though it seemed like forever to hear my name, I came away with a brand new fox whistle. It is supposed to be able to call in all types of varmints and when I finally got the pack open and cranked out a loud squall, it really got Tim's attention, who was sitting right in front of me. I can't wait to try it on four- legged critters.

Catfish was showing off his new camera. It looked very expensive, but if he's a smart photographer it should pay for itself in blackmail money pretty quickly.

Billy came in first with a great score. He's practically unbeatable, but I'm proud to report Paul got to chose next with a self bow.

Hope to see everyone next month at the two day shoot. Try to camp if you can. It's always good to share a campfire with trad brothers.
